You will also be responsible for assigning homework and documenting students' progress. In addition, you will be required to assess students' essays in English, Literature, and Social Studies and Science essay projects using a standard marking schema. Our curriculum provider is the Accelerated Christian Education (A.C.E.) from America. This is an individualized and mastery-based program where the students work in PACES/modules at their own pace. After each module, there is an assessment packet prepared where students are tested according to what they have learned from each module. With the bulk of the curriculum already provided, your role as an English teacher/supervisor also extends to being able to teach and supervise High School elective subjects such as Biblical Studies, Economics, Health, Speech, Music, and other High School subjects (excluding Math and Science – there is a specialist on these subjects whom you will be working with as a team).

To be successful as an English teacher, you should possess a thorough understanding of effective teaching practices. Our ideal candidate will be able to create a stimulating learning environment that is sensitive to students' psychosocial needs.
